

DOCTOR

OF NATUROPATHIC
MEDICINE

PROVIDE HOLISTIC CARE FOR BODY, MIND AND SPIRIT.

When you pursue a future as a Doctor of Naturopathic Medicine (NMD) at University of Western States, you'll learn from the best. Our professors are practitioners themselves, and they're at the height of their careers. They bring their expertise to every class and clinical rotation you have, whether in person or online, in the 14 quarters of hands on learning that will earn your NMD degree.

Faculty will provide the training and opportunities for you to develop the expertise and confidence to provide whole person primary care to patients, optimizing their health and putting them on a path to healing.

“ UWS offers a whole person approach to naturopathic medicine. The program is designed to train future physicians in evidence informed natural health care, addressing body, mind and spirit, with a focus on functional medicine. The training includes botanical medicine, physical medicine, pharmacology, clinical nutrition and homeopathy, to provide graduates a wide array of tools with which to work with patients.”

YOU
BELONG
AT UWS

EQUIPPING TOMORROW'S HEALTH CARE LEADERS.

UWS WILL EQUIP YOU WITH THE SKILLS YOU NEED.

- Be trained in a precision medicine approach to work in partnership with patients to optimize their health and healing.
- Develop proficiency in functional medicine, diet and nutrition, botanical medicine, and much more.
- Develop experience through in-person clinical training in multiple settings with diverse patient populations.
- Become skilled in collaborating with a wide range of health care professionals.
- Health and healing will come to life in our hands-on courses, labs and clinical experiences.
- Our Standardized Patient Program prepares you to enter your clinical experiences with the competence and confidence you need to pass licensure exams that greenlight your career.

All this, paired with our spacious and stunning new campus facilities, mean UWS sets the pace in naturopathic medical education. We prepare tomorrow's leaders in whole-person care, and we will prepare you to improve the lives of your patients as a naturopathic physician.

WHY UWS?

HERE ARE SIX REASONS UWS IS THE RIGHT PLACE TO PURSUE YOUR FUTURE IN NATUROPATHIC MEDICINE.

1 FLEXIBILITY AND DEPTH.

UWS utilizes a hybrid teaching delivery model, with a combination of in-person and online content delivery. All courses focus on in-depth, personal engagement with our faculty mentors.

2 FOCUS ON FUNCTIONAL MEDICINE.

You'll be confident to launch a career as a primary health care provider with a naturopathic medicine foundation and UWS's distinctive functional medicine framework, a science-based approach that teaches you to address the root causes of your patients' medical needs.

3 A WHOLE-PERSON APPROACH.

By developing competency in the full range of holistic techniques in nutrition, genetic profiles, physical and mental health, and more, you'll be empowered to offer precision medicine that maximizes every patient's unique, inherent healing capacity.

4 MAXIMIZED OPPORTUNITIES WITH DUAL-DEGREES.

You can specialize your practice according to your area of passion. At UWS, you can pair your NMD degree with one of our other graduate-level programs: nutrition, chiropractic, counseling, psychology, sports medicine and more.

5 STATE-OF-THE-ART FACILITIES.

UWS's new campus features technology-focused classrooms, inspired learning spaces, a comprehensive library, a modern fitness center and a world-class clinic facility located in the heart of amazing Portland, where professional opportunities and restorative recreation abound.

6 LAUNCH A VARIETY OF CAREERS.

The NMD is a versatile and powerful degree, and providing primary health care is only one possible career path. You can also pursue clinical research, graduate-level teaching, nutraceutical development, or medical specialties such as pediatrics, women's health, oncology and others. Whatever your passion, we'll help you pursue it.

BECOME A PRIMARY PRACTITIONER OF HEALTH AND HEALING.
